CHRISTMAS BLESSINGS

BY

ANNIE C. McQUEEN.

*May Heaven's blessing on thee shine,
And bounteous Christmas store be thine.*

Now
spreading
its glory
far & wide

Over the land, the Christmas tide Smiles in kindly blessing down On quiet grain fields sere and brown.
Those harvests long gathered in Have filled with wealth both barn and bin.

gathered
lamps
burned filled with light and among the stars less brilliant finding recompence and gain In bounteous store of golden Spain
And odorous nay with prudent Safely stored for winter
Safely stored for winter

Filings.

Wings
- to and fro -
Across the fields the bright birds find With chirp and warble as new A grain just suited to their mind
They too, in happy ways Blessings on the grain fields long

But not alone is the world
in sin
and in wrong
done
By fields of spilt blood let
For gleamers of grace in stone Have golden leaves to and blessings shall descend
In joy are theirs
this Christmas
